LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- describe how health technology design, development, programming, implementation and maintenance influence patient safety

- identify models that can be used to support system implementation that is safer and more effective

- identify methods that can be used to test and evaluate the safety of systems before and after implementation